Dearest Phil - As I was wandering around looking for traces of you I found a book you'd left behind. Your yearbooks were in it &, of course, I looked at all your pictures. The pleasant boyish expressions you exhibited in all your photographs made me realize how short a time we had together. It seemed appropriate that I should try to scribble down a few lines since this is another beginning & end time in my life. After I left I bought some pink Champagne -- I would like to think I am celebrating a beginning but at the moment I find the ending too sad. I wish I were able to find words that could encompass everything that is good & write them on this page so you could read them & know the truth & beauty of life & it would be yours forever. I cannot waste much time on this heartache I am experiencing because I have to continue my search for the goodness of my soul. Being able to love & be loved is beautiful but I guess I need to find the purity in its expression. Oh in the far off distance I hear the faint echo of the drums that beckon, all those who are striving for peace & happiness but sometimes the dirt of my weaknesses causes me to falter & chase those elusive butterflies. That you & your family may prosper spiritually is an eventuality if you continue seeking the light. I realize my ramblings are at best muddled at this time but if I ever find any answers you & yours will be among the first I share my findings with. And so comes the end of the page but not the end of the story. Until forever I wish you peace, love, happiness & the endurance to never give up the quest. I remain, always, your friend Carol

ADMINISTRATION

Phil,

Teachers are forever learning—
forever on their way to conquering new goals in education and accumulating new knowledge to pass
on to their students.
Miss Peggy Covey,
demonstrating the fundamentals of transformational grammar, illustrates the desire of all teachers to keep up with the trends in modern education.

I don't know what to say because I don't know how you will. Maybe we'll get to know each other better some time. Have fun this summer (I know you will) Your friend!

Kathy Bunyard

Attorney James B. Bedingfield, Sr., explains district legal responsibilities to superintendent Marion Winslow and Board Members—Mrs. Teresa O'Neil, Mr. Donald Matson, Mr. John Burles, Mr. Kenneth Lewis, and Mr. James Frame.

School Board

Other school board members are Mr. Everett Messerle and Mr. Dow Beckham.

James Frame Chairmans District 9 Board

The District 9 School Board is an elected group of highly responsible men and women who provide an invaluable service to the Coos Bay schools. The seven members come from different industrial areas to give a complete representation of the entire community. James Frame, the chairman, presides over the meetings, which are held twice monthly. The board analyzes, discusses, and acts on business matters of the school district. The hours spent by these citizens give the District 9 students an ever-progressive school and the best education possible.

Superintendent

Marion Winslow Completes 15 Years At Coos Bay

The high standard of efficient management our school district has maintained throughout the past fifteen years is due largely to the hard work and determination of Mr. Marion Winslow. As superintendent of Coos Bay Public Schools, his job encompasses much responsibility in framing schools policies and supervising the work of the principals. Years of experience in administration, a thorough understanding of the problems and purposes in obtaining a good education, and an optimistic outlook assist Mr. Winslow in each new project. Adept in his field, he always furnishes the students of Coos Bay with the best in school management.

Marion Winslow discusses legal responsibilities with board members.

Sherb,

ELMER R. JOHNSON
Kearny State Teachers College, A.B.; Colorado State College of Education, M.A.; Principal.

Principal

Elmer Johnson Heads Marshfield

With an ever-expanding and changing high school, Marshfield students are proud and fortunate to have Mr. Johnson as a friend, a disciplinarian, and a leader. As principal, he is a vital key to the story of a successful and productive school program. In his innovations to Marshfield—the vending machines; the new, freer study hall program; and the student-written excuses—he has shown his faith in the students and his sincere interest in further developing their sense of responsibility. Dedicated to serving his community and school by enriching the lives of Marshfield students, Mr. Johnson has merited the respect and esteem of all.

Principal Elmer Johnson addresses the first freshman class meeting.

Counselors

Counseling Staff Is Enlarged

The counselors have many tasks, foremost among them to work with the students who need discipline, to help the teachers to work better with the students, and to help young people grow and develop to the best of their ability. Although the duties of the counselors have not changed much this year, the increased enrollment of the school necessitated that the staff be increased.

The new counselor, Mr. Leonard Kokes, assisted both Mr. Lorin Miller, Dean of Boys, and Mr. Donald Bunyard, guidance counselor. His job deals more directly, however, with the discipline of both boys and girls. Mr. Donald Bunyard, is also responsible for scheduling all-school testing, homerooms, programs concerning guidance and collegiate and vocational information. Students with more serious problems are referred by the deans to him.

The deans' job is different from that of the guidance counselor in that they are more concerned with attitudes and conduct of the students rather than their future. Miss Margaret Shannon and Miss Beverly Swink, Deans of Girls, besides being in charge of the discipline of the girls, are in charge of lockers, checking out of school, and student personal problems such as furnishing band-aids and safety pins.

Mr. Lorin Miller and Mr. Leonard Kokes, Deans of Boys, have duties that are essentially the same as those of the Deans of Girls. They, too, assist with attendance, counsel students for adjustment, to the classroom, aid in student insurance and health programs, talk with students about their educational-program and vocational ambitions, and oversee student conduct.

Mr. Robert Alexander, who was this year promoted to Vice-Principal, is in charge of textbooks, attendance, student schedules, curriculum, IBM data processing, withdrawals, the master schedule, and East Branch problems.

Language Arts

Students Begin Program Of Independent Study

The students' abilities to express themselves verbally in conversation and composition were challenged by the Marshfield English Department. Placement of the students in the various English programs was based upon capabilities in composition, grammatical understanding, and literature interpretation. Those students experiencing problems in English were placed in the basic program throughout their freshman, sophomore, and junior years. Average English students studied under the regular English curriculum. Students with a high aptitude who expressed a desire to learn received instruction in the honors English classes. Senior English students not planning to attend college studied practical English; whereas the college-bound students took advantage of the college preparatory and honors English programs.

Now in its second year at Marshfield, Project English was taught in the freshman, sophomore, and junior classes. The project introduced curriculum in rhetoric, grammar, literature, and speech.

Some students also initiated a program of independent study one period a week. This period was either spent in the library gathering source material or receiving special help from an instructor.

Speech, journalism, reading labs, and world literature were again offered as elective courses of the English program.

Foreign Language

Languages Prove Popular With Students

The command of a second language is becoming increasingly important in a world that seems to be diminishing in size with each new development in industry and technology. Good communication may serve as a vital thread that can tie differing nations and cultures together. Always striving to serve the students' needs and prepare them for future years, Marshfield offers an excellent language curriculum including courses in Spanish, French, Russian, and Latin.

Geared to provide a thorough grounding in the fundamentals of the three modern conversational languages desired by the high school student, the A-LM course was again employed as an outstanding method of teaching and learning. Students wishing a good background and knowledge of a language are aided by the use of a modern, well-equipped language lab, conversation records, and textbooks. Nor is the study of ancient language neglected. Latin, a language which has nourished and enriched the English language itself, proved valuable and interesting to many students. The department underwent a considerable change in personnel with the addition of Mrs. Ora Niemela in French and Mr. Dale Wakem in Latin.

Pam Brumbraugh practices her French in the language lab.

Mathematics

Program Undergoes Revision

The mathematics department was greatly altered this year with the conversion to the concepts of the new math. This system spotlights reasoning, not merely memorizing, in the development of mathematical fundamentals. The students are given theorems, axioms, and postulates so they can proceed to deduce and prove relationships, instead of the previously-used mechanical process of memorizing these relationships and rules. With the emphasis of the ability to develop and then apply fundamental mathematical knowledge to new situations, students are better prepared for the college math that some will encounter.

The varying degrees of difficulty in courses covered by the mathematics department make it well geared to the needs of each individual. Courses in algebra, arithmetic, trigonometry, geometry, and modern math are offered to challenge and broaden the student's math comprehension.

Science

Laboratory Work Aids Study

Courses of the science department emphasized practical laboratory experience as an effective means of teaching and learning. General science students learned by inductive reasoning through laboratory and classroom work, while other students explored chemistry with a combination of textbook and laboratory experiments. The major change in the science department was the conversion from traditional biology to Biological Science Curriculum Studies with two versions. The yellow version emphasizes the cell as the unit from which life is built, and the blue version derives from the concept that the molecule is the building block of life. In all its phases of study, the science department has expanded its offerings in a successful program of laboratory and classroom studies.

Social Science

Department Adds New Course

The social science department, in its diversified curriculum, gives students the opportunity and the impetus to be well informed, thoughtful, and active in civic affairs. Through this department, students learn that organized knowledge, constructively applied, can be the key to effective citizenship.

Large group sessions, which feature lectures, films, and occasional guest speakers, proved again to be a helpful and beneficial means of teaching and learning and an interesting variant from the usual classroom schedule.

World geography is geared to give underclassmen a textbook view of other lands and an understanding of the different peoples and cultures of the world. A backward glance to the beginning of mankind, his development and the development of the diverse civilizations up to modern times is the study encountered by world history students; while U.S. history centers about the growth of America. Problems of democracy prepares students for the responsibilities of maintaining democracy in our land and provides the modern thinking and solutions for the problems they will someday face. This year the department expanded its offerings to include a special course in American government. It offered an enriching study of the intricacies of American government. History and problems of the world are discussed in the international relations class. Through this broad program of geography, history, and citizenship, students gain new knowledge and insight in the world of social science.

Physical Education

Students Discover Benefits of Physical Fitness

The goal of the physical education department is to develop students physically and mentally through the mastering of new skills and knowledge of the importance of a strong, healthy body. The girls' physical education program encompassed such diverse sports as golf, tumbling, tennis, and volleyball—all of which can enrich the student's life now and in the future. Boys learned the requirements of physical fitness as they participated in physical fitness tests, basketball, apparatus, track, and other sports.

Health classes, which include a program of first aid, personal development, anatomy, and other topics, give students the opportunity and impetus to improve their own health practices, as well as to aid others.

Through participation in the physical education and health departments, any student can discover the benefits of physical fitness in a happier, healthier life.

Vocational-Industrial

Lay Advisory Committee Formed

The vocational and industrial arts department provides the vital link between a high school education and the ever-progressing, industrializating world of employment. To meet the growing needs of students to prepare themselves for the responsibilities of adulthood, the school's vocational program was expanded by the addition of a vocational advisory committee made up of interested laymen representing the various industries of the community.

The four-year agriculture course is closely related to Future Farmers of America Club work and helps develop leadership qualities in the students, as well as school them in all aspects of the wide field of agriculture. A feature of this course is the newly erected greenhouse, enabling the horticulture class to experiment in the botany field.

Arts

Woodshop, drafting, metal shop, and auto mechanics courses are the valuable means to develop shop skills and provide the impetus and knowledge to build practical and useful projects, such as the multiple purpose cranberry tractor completed this year.

Homemaking instructs girls in the art of cooking, sewing, and home and family care. In this class they can gain useful experience to benefit themselves now and in the future. Driver education is aimed at giving the prospective young driver the fundamentals of good driving and the basics for caring for his car. Like all the other vocational-industrial courses offered, it gives the students a solid education in a practical subject matter—an education to last a life-time.

Fine Arts

Art Department Adds Classes

The fine arts department is designed to develop a student's talent and potential while satisfying high artistic standards. Marshfield's vocal and band departments bring exciting entertainment to their many audiences on several occasions, such as the Thanksgiving Assembly and Christmas Vespers.

Art students receive instruction in a variety of fields to encourage them to create unique and personal projects. The library provides an indispensable service to the students in supplying them with educational and entertaining books and magazines and is always an important part of the fine arts department.

The business education department trains students for the responsibilities, privileges, and successes waiting for them in the business world. With an extensive program, including bookkeeping, typing, shorthand, general business, business law, business machines, IBM data processing, office practice, and secretarial training, this department offers a broad vocational training in a secretarial or clerical major. This year a retailing course was added to give students an opportunity to learn the intricacies of buying and selling.

Through this diversified program, business education students can delve into the business world and all its fascinating aspects.

Student Staffs

Student Staffs Provide Efficient Service

Student staffs prove to be a reliable means of obtaining the efficiency and good service every school needs. Without the help of the library staff, the librarians' work would never be finished. These responsible students take care of the seemingly endless tasks of checking out, sorting, and indexing books and receiving fines.

While helping the administration, faculty, and other students by their assistance in the business department, office practice students help themselves with the practical experience they gain working in a realistic office environment. Their various duties include typing, mimeographing, collecting attendance cards, and distributing messages and announcements.

The efficiency of the cafeteria is due in large part to the cafeteria staff who serve food, wash dishes, and clean up after lunch. Like the other student staffs, it provides an indispensable service to the school.

Service Staffs

Service Staffs Prove Indispensable

Members of the various service staffs provide the indispensable fourth wheel for a smooth running school system, enabling the school officials, teachers, and students to function at high standards.

The secretarial staff, in addition to carrying out the designated tasks concerning school business, students records, correspondence, and attendance, is often called upon to be the school's "information booth" and to assist students in various, unacknowledged ways. The hard-working custodians are responsible for keeping the school property, grounds, and buildings clean and in good order, all of which promote community pride in the school's appearance.

Each day, the cooks prepare and serve school lunches, never falling below the high standards of nourishment required of them. The school nurse has a full-time job helping students with health problems, supervising medical business, and even aiding the teaching program by speaking to health classes at various occasions.

Without the dedication, skills, and hard work of these staffs, the school could never reach its goal of providing the students with a good education in a healthy, efficient atmosphere.

CLASSES

The brilliant smile on Sue Marker's face reflects the anticipation of many eager students on their way to school festivities such as the Junior Prom and Senior Ball — impressive events which are hopefully designed, untiringly prepared, and successfully staged with competence and zeal by the students themselves.

Senior Class

Seniors Win Charity Drives

The class of 1966 entered Marshfield with over 500 members. Under the leadership of Brian Elfving, members kicked off their first year with the Frosh Mixer and the winning of the cowbell.

Brian again led the class through its sophomore year, during which the Sock Hop was revived. The class's second year ended with the election of Jeff Cox as president.

The junior year was the first of two big years for the class. Active participation in the Canned Food Drive and the Cancer Drive was backed up by the hard work supplying "Through the Keyhole" atmosphere to the Junior Prom. The juniors provided the candidates for student body offices; and when the excitement had died down, Fred Messerle was the president. Randy Kindred was chosen class president for the senior year, and the class moved on.

As usual the senior year was the busiest for the students. The determination and hard work of a fine slate of offices were equaled only by the enthusiasm of the class and the cooperation of the advisers. The seniors got their last year off to an active start by co-sponsoring a "Get Acquainted" dance with North Bend's senior class, a cooperative effort which proved a great success. The seniors won the Key Club Canned Food Drive and the United Good Neighbors' Drive with ease. The accomplishments of several members of the class in scholarship and leadership competitions was indicative of the high level of achievement to be found throughout the class.

Junior Class

Juniors Stage "Fantasy in Frost" Prom

A large blue and green cellophane star shimmered above nearly two hundred couples as they danced to the music of Bud Baird's band, December 11. The occasion was the Junior Prom, an annual tradition sponsored this year by the class of '67. Following the theme of "Fantasy in Frost," the juniors flocked the pale blue walls with giant snowflakes and adorned the ceiling with cellophane stars. The band operated from a stand decorated with trees and ferns, and flocked trees lined the floor. Two class members provided the entertainment for the intermission with a program of folk singing.

To finance the prom and future class activities, the juniors engaged in sno-cone sales, bottle drives, car washes, and food sales and sponsored an after-game dance.

The class of '67 stimulated class participation in various ways for their contributions to the Canned Food Drive and the United Good Neighbors' Drive.

Decorations for commencement, a long-established tradition at Marshfield, was again provided for by the juniors.

Sophomore Class

Sophomores Climax Spirit Week Winning Cowbell

After a year of adjusting to high school life, the members of the sophomore class seemed even more energetic and ambitious as they faced the new, challenging year.

Excitement ran high as the class of '68 demonstrated their true school spirit winning the cowbell, to climax Spirit Week before the traditional North Bend football game.

Despite their well-meaning efforts, the sophomores were disappointed with their final standing in the Canned Food Drive, but they eagerly looked forward to the United Good Neighbors' Drive. Some of their abundant enthusiasm was channeled into various fund-raising projects to earn money for the drives and future class projects.

No one could argue that they were not active Marshfield supporters at every kind of school activity—in social, scholastic, and sport events—contributing as both cheering spectators and determined participants. With the potential shown during their sophomore year, the class of '68 seems certain of success in the years to come.

Dear Phillip,
"Would you believe" we're graduating! It's about time don't you think. Please excuse writing as we're on our way to the Senior picnic and the bus is bumpy — Even though school has been fun you can compare to 12 years vacation in East Berlin! Well it was fun watching you stumble out of the house every morning - I bet I looked great too! See ya at Graduation and I hope we'll meet again someday - Love Ford

Freshman Class

Frosh Win Cowbell at First Pep Assembly

High school is a big step from junior high, but the freshman class fared it well. Student Council sponsored the annual Frosh Mixer to give the members an opportunity to get acquainted with their fellow classmates. To acquaint them further with their new school, a series of pep talks on school participation, spirit, and class activities was presented at the first class meeting.

The freshman class displayed outstanding spirit and enthusiasm by winning the cowbell at the first pep assembly, preceding the big game with Cottage Grove.

The freshman girls were the object of a new program sponsored by the Soroptimist Club of Coos Bay. They were all invited to a luncheon at the Courtel Restaurant, where they were treated with gifts and advice on good grooming practices and the essence of good posture, poise, and personality.

The freshmen showed their leadership, ambition, and determination in their efforts in the school-sponsored drives. Their contributions were felt in the United Good Neighbors' Drive and the Canned Food Drive, where they placed second.

In their activities and successes, the freshman class laid a good foundation for the years to come.

National Honor Society

Honor Students Give Scholarship

Scholarship, character, leadership and service determine the membership of the Hysoerie Chapter of the National Honor Society. The aim of each selected member, as stated in the formal initiation, is not only to possess these qualities but also to induce others to aspire scholarly habits, worthy service, and active leadership. These words became the goals of many new members after two tappings and initiations held during the year.

At important public functions, such as commencement, Vespers, and Community Concerts, N.H.S. members' contribution included the ushering service.

To finance club activities and the annual scholarship, the club secured popcorn concessions for several basketball games.

Mahiscan

Yearbook Changes Size to 9x12

In September, an unusually large Mahiscan executive staff of nine was on its way—planning layouts, selling advertising, taking pictures, and meeting those hectic deadlines. The new 9 x 12 size increased the book's capacity for picture coverage and bigger individual senior pictures. The cover, designed by Anne Lorence, the colored end sheets, and the use of colored pictures and duotone in the theme pages helped to carry out this year's theme, "We're On Our Way."

An emphasis on excellent picture coverage was made possible by Irving Lloyd, one of the nation's outstanding photographers, who contributed a number of candid shots of Marshfield students and faculty and discussed photography problems with the staff. Robert Paffrath from the American Yearbook Company also provided some color shots for the theme pages and some candids. Robert of the Camera Shop again provided the individual and club pictures. The Camera Club and Mr. Jack Lefler's photography class supplied many of the activity pictures.

The staff hopes the 1965-66 Mahiscan provides an accurate and enjoyable account of this year's activities.

Newspaper Sponsors Gifts for Marines in Viet Nam

The number of students enrolled in the journalism classes this year reached a new high; this increase required the creation of three classes instead of the two that had been sufficient in the past. The larger number of cub reporters facilitated the printing of several more issues of the paper than are usually published. One period of journalism was devoted to the Ma-Hi Times staff, who constructed the paper and edited the stories of the cub reporters, who collected the news and wrote the stories.

The school paper attempts to be an outlet for student opinions as well as a source of information and entertainment. The largest publication of the paper was accomplished with the printing of the eight page Christmas issue. In December the Ma-Hi Times staff members received a letter of thanks for the books and cookies they had sent to the Marines in Viet Nam.

Journalists Hold Two Initiations

Quill and Scroll is a national honorary society for journalists. Membership to the Marshfield chapter is achieved through outstanding work on the Mahiscan or Ma-Hi Times. This year two initiations were held, one in the fall and one in the spring, enabling qualified students to become members sooner.

The annual potluck Christmas party was held on December 21. Several alumni attended the party to see Santa pass out the humorous gifts from the gift exchange.

In hopes of earning enough money to award a scholarship, the club sold Pirate window stickers. The Mahiter, the student literary magazine, was published by Quill and Scroll in the spring.

Stagecraft

Art Department Supervises Stage Sets

The center of many school and community activities, the Marshfield auditorium requires much behind-the-scenes work. This work, which includes lighting the stage and handling props and curtains, is tackled by a crew of students enrolled in the stagecraft class. Changes in the class this year included the addition of two girls and an increase in the credit given per semester.

The class was placed under the art department so that a class could specialize in making stage sets and designs for the various programs. The actual stagecraft class dealt with the speaking, drama, and art departments. Taught through the instruction of Mr. John Connors and by practical experience, these students became the nucleus of many fine performances and functions held in the M.H.S. auditorium.

Mr. John Connors shows student Mike Henshaw how to set up a prop for a backdrop.

Drama

Dramatists Go Spanish

The Marshfield dramatic program was busy this year staging two highly interesting, yet totally dissimilar, plays.

The first play of the year was a modern fable, Me Candido, written by Walt Anderson and presented by the dramatists on November 19 and 20. The play revolved around a Puerto Rican boy named Candido, who has been orphaned and left on the streets of New York to care for himself. He is soon taken in by the kindly Gomez family and secures a job in the restaurant of his neighbor, Mr. Ramirez. However, Candido's problems are far from being solved, as a Social Worker discovers the unschooled boy working underage and insists he must be educated. These difficulties are followed by more: Candido is not legally adopted and the Gomezes and their concerned neighbors must go through many trials and much legal action to keep the boy.

"I live over there on 16th Street, but I can go anywhere I like," says Steve Garner, Candido in Me Candido.

M. Jasso (Chucho), J. Trushell (Mr. McGinty), Terry Barham (Mr. Ramirez), and M. Newell (Mr. Duffy) talk over Candido's coming trial.

Mr. Handshaw prompts his young actors on using more expression in their movements.

Quixote Brought to Stage

The second play of the year, The Wonderful Adventures of Don Quixote, was the delightful story of a 17th century country squire who imagined himself a 15th century gallant knight. He believed that he was missioned to save a lovely lady, Dulcinea del Toboso, who only existed in the fascinating world of imagination Don Quixote lived in. Despite his fear of the Knight of the White Moon, Don set out in a search of his Dulcinea and hired as his squire a loyal servant named Sancho. Much to the dismay of Don Quixote's neice, Antonia, the two men began their journey of adventure. During their exciting trek, Don Quixote encountered a flock of sheep which he saw as a large, forbidding army, and a big windmill which he thought was a giant. After a long, tiring, unsuccessful journey, he was finally persuaded to return home.

Students Participate

In Numerous Tournaments

Throughout the '65-'66 school year, students in Speech Club have built for themselves a mountain of experience. They sponsored the Southwestern Oregon Invitational Tournament in November and the District Speech Tourney in March. Members prepared in debate, oratory, extemporaneous speaking, impromptu speaking, serious and humorous interpretation, poetry, and salesmanship for the annual Linfield College Speech Tournament held February 17, 18, and 19. The industrious ones also traveled to the Pacific University Tournament and to the Southern Oregon College Tournament.

Other activities of Speech Club included sponsoring a junior high school speech tournament and broadcasting "Spotlight on the Pirates" on KCBY TV and "Pirate Pipeline" on KOOS radio. An after-game dance was held and other fund raising projects explored in the hopes of raising money for the club's treasury.

Debators this year met a formidable challenge in their topic: "Resolved: That the Federal Government should adopt a program of compulsory arbitration in labor-management disputes in basic industries." After finally figuring out what the topic meant, they went on to capture many places in the tournaments to which they traveled.

Tri-M

Musicians Initiate Largest Group of Apprentices

Modern Music Masters, Chapter 155, gives outstanding vocal and instrumental students an opportunity for musical expression in the school and community.

The initiation of forty-six apprentices proved to be the largest class ever taken into the international honorary society. Initiates were chosen on the basis of musicianship, scholarship, leadership, service, character, and cooperation. More than one hundred parents, faculty, and honorary members witnessed the candlelight ceremony in a Halloween setting. The program was highlighted by the Barbershoppers, who were presented by John Anderson, an honorary member.

Tri-M ushered for the various concerts given by the instrumental and vocal departments. The scholarship fund and treasury were increased by the sale of Plasti-Coated book covers and coke concessions at basketball games. Deserving students were awarded scholarships to assist them in attending summer music camps.

Tri-M Top-Notchers—Larry Teague, Lee Doving, and Jorgen Kruse—look over the achievement records that they will send to the national office for recognition.

Jim Kubli and Terry Barham entertain members and guests at the initiation ceremony.

President Lee Doving and Treasurer Connie Mulvanny present Brian Bay with his key and membership card.

Honorary member John Anderson and his Bayshore Four captivate their audience with several barbershopper numbers.

Vocal Music

Music Groups Add to Accomplishment

Choral groups of Marshfield High presented a new look to the public this year, with the addition of the choral sound shell in the background and a hand-crafted harpsichord and other Renaissance and Baroque instruments for accompaniment.

Vespers program at Christmas filled the auditorium to capacity for two performances, opening with the traditional processional "Westminister Carol" and ending with the "Hallelujah Chorus." This year's program presented all the vocal groups performing the cantata "The First Christmas Story" by Dr. Louise Grant. Monday evening's program saw over fifty alumni from the audience join the Choir in singing the "Hallelujah Chorus." The setting of stone Gothic arches and stained glass windows, enhanced by special lighting, lent a cathedral atmosphere to the Vespers. Again, Choir presented its annual Christmas Television Show.

The ensembles, Serenettes, Madrigal, Coral-Tones, Beachcombers, and Gleemen performed at numerous meetings, service clubs, and other community social events during the year. With the addition of the harpsichord, Madrigal proved to be a special attraction at Christmas.

"The Path of Music—Madrigals to Madness" provided the theme for the 1966 Spring Sing-a-Rama held in April. This theme followed the time line of the madrigals of the 16th century, Bach's music of the 17th and early 18th, melodies of the 19th, and the adaptions of early classic themes to modern rhythmical arrangements of the 20th century. This program featured accompaniment by organ; harpsichord; soprano, alto and tenor recorders; percussion; and the piano.

Marshfield's large singing groups participated in the Southwestern Oregon District Vocal Festival and Solo and Ensemble Contest, held in Reedsport in late April, under the direction of Dr. Royce Saltzman of the University of Oregon.

In conjunction with the Oregon Music Educators Association, five Marshfield Choir students were selected for the All-State Choir, held in Portland during spring vacation.

Vocal students appeared in three assemblies for the student body: Thanksgiving, Vespers, and the Sing-a-Rama.

Instrumental Music

Band Members Don New Gold Jackets

The Marshfield High School Golden Pirate Marching Band, directed by Mr. Robert Gillett, helped kick off the football season again this year by supplying the fans with spirited music and entertaining half-time shows. Drum Major Herb Douglas applied many of the techniques he had learned at a specialized drum-major school to improve the band's style. While members of Concert and Varsity bands were marching, members of the Freshman Band sold Marshfield loyalty buttons in the stands, an annual project which has contributed to the bands' uniform fund. During the football season, members began selling Christmas cards, paper, and tags. The bands sold more than one-hundred per cent of their goal, aided by the Varsity Band's impressive winning record of 127% of its goal.

When basketball season rolled around, a select group of musicians, known as the Marshfield Pep Band, delighted the spectators. Clad in new purple and gold uniforms, the Pep Band also helped boost the spirit of the student body at pep assemblies. Other band members sold popcorn for three home games to add to the uniform fund.

The annual Spring Concert offered an opportunity for all three bands to demonstrate their mastery of concert, as well as pep music. The Golden Pirate Marching Band again appeared in the Boat Parade in both Coos Bay and North Bend on March 12. A highlight for the Freshman band was the District Band Festival held on February 28.

In February, the Concert Band received new gold jackets to be worn with black slacks and skirts. Plans were made for chest plates which could change the jacket into a marching coat.

Four members of Concert Band were selected to participate in the All-State Band in Portland during Spring Vacation. Their tryout material was taped in December and sent to Portland for judging. Those who qualified for the honor were Tom Bullington, Contra Bass Clarinet; Sue Erichsen, French horn; Sandra George, percussion; and Larry Teague, trumpet.

Latin Club

Initiation Is Success

Under the direction of Mr. Francis Niesius, Mr. Dale Wakem, and the new officers, Latin Club continued its program on the Roman Civilization.

During their February initiation, Latin Club welcomed in many new members. For the privilege of joining, these initiates had to do various gags, including rolling peanuts down the hall with their noses, eating raw oysters, and shaving balloons. Led by the initiation committee of Tom Moehl, Dennis Abney, Bruce Horn, and Phillip Warr, the party was a tremendous success but just a preview of the fun anticipated at the end-of-the-year party.

The only qualifications for Latin Club membership is finishing one-half year of Latin with a "C" average.

Language Club Hears Foreign Exchange Students

M.F.L.C.

Modern Foreign Language Club was boosted through its third year by enthusiastic members and officers. Membership was open to any student upon completion of one year of French or Spanish.

This year M.F.L.C.'s mademoiselles, monsieurs, señoritas, and señores actively participated in several exciting club events. The first of these events was the annual Christmas party, highlighted with the breaking of the traditional piñata. This festivity was followed by the Mardi Gras in February and the Spring Initiation Banquet.

Guest speakers and foreign exchange students Steve Sihlen and Konno Shigemasa brightened club meetings with talks of their homelands.

Concessions and other money-raising projects supported the club's activities and the foreign exchange student program.

Student Council Tightens Supervision

The efforts of Student Council this year were directed toward better communications between the administration and the students. A twice-monthly bulletin, The Pirate Pen Notes, was published as a supplement to the Ma-Hi Times. For the first time, Student Council acquired its own office and established mail boxes in the Attendance Office for the executive members and the various clubs.

The duties of Council began with registration and a welcoming assembly. Activities got into full swing as Council members sponsored the annual Frosh Mixer and an Antique Auction to rid the school of many of its unneeded relics. Six Council members journeyed to Grants Pass to receive additional executive training at the Region V workshop.

Celebrating football Homecoming, Student Council organized a bonfire and pep rally to promote school spirit.

The Christmas Toy Dance provided gifts for the needy children of the Bay Area. As the year's charity drive, members selected the United Good Neighbors' Drive.

Taking full advantage of constitutional rights, Student Council formed various committees and enforced constitutional specifications.

Other responsibilities of Council included presiding at assemblies, supervising Student Body elections, and approval of all club activities. Committees such as communications, foreign students, assembly, approval blanks, and investigations enabled Student Council members, individually and as a unit, to better fulfill those duties bestowed upon them.

Girls' League

Girls Initiate "Smile Week" at Marshfield

Girls' League has spent another year boosting the spirits of new and old students.

The League was busy long before students arrived at school this fall, preparing for "Smile Week," the official week for friendliness. At the end of the week four Miss Friendships were selected: Anna Brunell, freshman; Karla Jorgensen, sophomore; Linda Kindred, junior; and Frances McMullan, senior.

In the Girls' League tradition of friendship, get-acquainted letters were sent to new girls at M.H.S., who were also introduced at the Girls' League meetings.

After "Smile Week" the Sadie Hawkins Dance, "Sadie Goes Circus," was held in the Girls' Gym. The proceeds from the dance were put into a scholarship fund, with the scholarship going to a deserving senior girl.

The Christmas season brought the annual trimming of the tree for Vespers and the sending of Christmas greetings to members of the faculty.

The social service project, held in March, created school spirit with class competition. The money accumulated was sent to the Mentally Retarded Foundation of the Bay Area. Also included in social service was the sending of get well cards to girls who had been ill for a week or more.

Regional Secretary Sara Glassow supervised the extensive planning for the Regional Girls' League Conference. The junior girls revived an old Marshfield tradition by sponsoring the Mother-Daughter Tea.

Boys' League

Boys Increase Activity

Boys' League experienced an active year under the leadership of its officers, the guidance of its interested advisers, and the enthusiasm of its members. At the start of the year, several new committees were organized to aid the club in its various activities. This year pins were awarded to the boys who actively participated on committees and to each Boy of the Month.

The Boys' League meetings had a variety of programs from surfing and judo to skits and informative talks on colleges.

Key Club

Members Sponsor Juke Box

Key Club lived up to its motto of service to school and community this year through various projects. At Christmas, the special time for unselfish giving, the club sponsored the Canned Good Drive, which was, for the first time, on an inter-school competition basis with North Bend School. Key Clubbers supported the athletic department when they took tickets at the games, handed out programs at the football games, and ushered during basketball season.

Key Club enthusiastically joined in the school's new move toward improvement and change by placing a juke box in the cafeteria for student enjoyment.

The Coos Bay Kiwanis, the parent organization, sent eight members of Key Club to the District Convention, held this year in Puyallup, Washington. In return, Key Club handled concessions at the wrestling matches at the Coos Bay Armory and the officers took over one of Kiwanis's meetings in May.

Tri-Hi-Y

Girls Help Service Groups Spread Good Will

Tri-Hi-Y, a select club devoted to community service and the development of Christian ideals, compiled an impressive list of activities for the year. The club devoted much time and thought to the Youth and Government program. Interested members attended pre-legislature, held in Eugene in February. Several Marshfield Tri-Hi-Y girls attended the Youth and Government session in April.

The club was also active in many community activities. They joined Hi-Y in caroling at St. Catherine's Residence and McAuley and Keizer hospitals. The Seaman's Center was also the partial responsibility of Tri-Hi-Y. The club divided into groups, each group decorating for the different holiday occasions. All the groups combined their efforts in decorating the center for Christmas. Tri-Hi-Y also helped the Tuberculosis and Health Association and advertised for the Senior Citizen's Club.

Hi - Y Sponsors Foreign Student Assembly

Hi-Y, a community service club to promote Christian ideals, continued its role as an active organization at school and in the Bay Area. In addition to attending five churches in the community, Hi-Y caroled at St. Catherine's Residence in conjunction with Tri-Hi-Y during the Christmas season.

Proceeds from coffee and doughnut concession, an after-game dance, bottle drive, and the sale of student directories went to various organizations and a nominal scholarship for a worthy senior member.

Hi-Y sponsored its annual foreign student program on January 26. Five exchange students from the University of Oregon attended and lectured on their countries' international policies and customs.

The Hi-Y Youth and Government program, held in Eugene, was well represented by Marshfield Hi-Y members, who presented a bill to the Mock Youth Legislature.

With its increased membership and active officers, International Relations League initiated a number of projects this year. For the first time in many years, Marshfield's I.R.L. sent delegates to Salem at the request of Governor Mark O. Hatfield to participate in the United Nation's Day program.

Various conferences demanded much of the members' time. To prepare for the Spring Conference, several members traveled to the pre-conference in Eugene and to North Bend for the Regional Conference. They spiritedly participated in the African debate in March at the traditional I.R.L. Conference.

I.R.L. parented two foreign exchange students this year, one from Sweden and one from Japan. Along with its yearbook cover sales and concessions, I.R.L. ended its busy year in May with the election of new officers.

Future Business Leaders

New Club Organized to Further Interest in Business Methods

Despite the hardships of organization, Future Business Leaders of America actively started its first year. With the purpose of furthering an interest and knowledge of business at Marshfield, the newly organized group accomplished its goal through the use of speakers well-known in various business capacities. Under the leadership of the advisers, Mr. Marlin Sperry and Mr. Duffy Stender and President Ronda Thompson, the new members were very active in many projects. Selling school stationery and ice cream at the basketball games were their main fund raising projects. Their main civic project was helping at the Coos Bay Public Library. The Marshfield Chapter of F.B.L.A. was represented at the executive convention in Bend and at the State convention in Corvallis. Future Teachers of America

Marshfield Chapter Hosts Regional Convention

The Marjorie Tedrow Chapter of F.T.A. is an organization aimed at the members' better understanding of the teaching profession. Six members spent one week during the previous summer at either Southern Oregon College or Oregon College of Education, observing the fundamentals and procedures of teaching.

In November nine members and two advisers went to Linfield College for the State Convention, to hear Governor Mark O. Hatfield speak on the rewards of education.

In February the club was entertained by the youthful members of a Kiddies' Panel who discussed the good and bad points of their teachers.

For their treasury and their school and community, members sold tickets at games and sponsored a baked foods sale. In the spring Marshfield hosted the regional convention under the leadership of the regional president, Marcia Swearengin of Marshfield. Also during the spring, F.T.A. members went to the school and grade of their choice to observe the teachers' techniques and help in any way possible.

Science Club

SWOCC Science Department Toured

The enthusiastic and effective leadership of President Jon Baumgartner guided the Future Scientists of America through a very active and exciting year. All sophomores, juniors, and seniors with a science major and at least a B average in science were eligible for membership.

A tour of the Yaquina Oregon State Oceanography Center in Newport highlighted the eventful year. Other activities included a tour of the science department at Southwestern Oregon Community College and an electronic presentation of the local West Coast Telephone Exchange. The membership also viewed scientific films and listened to guest speakers at evening gatherings throughout the year.

The organization allotted a display case in the science department to display future club activities, minutes of the general meetings, and recent discoveries in the world of science.

The year came to a close with a biology field trip and picnic.

Future Homemakers Hold Picnic

The Future Homemakers of America spent many hours involved in the club's numerous activities.

Initiation took place at a beach picnic with almost all of the over one-hundred members and new members attending.

Christmas brought on many projects. The F.H.A. members made felt boots filled with candy, to give to the retarded children of the Bay Area. Also included in its Christmas activities were caroling and babysitting for Vespers.

In February, Marshfield F.H.A.'ers hosted North Bend girls at a "get-acquainted" potluck.

The traditional Mother-Daughter F.H.A. tea was held in the spring. Many of the girls modeled clothes they had made, both in class and at home.

The State Convention, held on the Oregon State campus, also took place in the spring, with several Marshfield F.H.A. members attending to hear lectures and tour the campus.

Future Farmers of America

Four Members Attend Kansas City Convention

The Future Farmers of America were always hard workers and determined competitors as they participated in a myriad of activities relating to the agricultural field. The members' many exhibits and judging ability took them to the local Coos County Fair and the Oregon State Fair.

The Marshfield Chapter met with other chapters on several different occasions. District Treasurer Fred Messerle took over the district books for the year. In the fall, four M.H.S. members traveled to Kansas City for the National F.F.A. Convention; during spring vacation, several more members trekked to the State Convention. Subdistrict contests — featuring competition in Creed Recitation, Public Speaking, and Parliamentary Procedure—saw Marshfield take first honors in all three categories, to give them the responsibilities for hosting the District Meet.

Several Future Farmers became well acquainted with the Pacific International Livestock Exposition in Portland, where they participated in judging contests. While at the P.I., Fred Messerle exhibited his steer "Rupert," which he captured in the P.I. Calf Scramble the previous year.

The F.F.A. "Car Bash" was quite a successful money raiser and spirit booster during Homecoming. Painted to represent a North Bend Bulldog, their car was on display as a symbol of the impending Pirate victory over North Bend. A nominal fee was charged for the opportunity to bash the car with a sledge hammer. As a further fundraiser, members held a slave sale in the spring.

Art Club

Palleteers Fill Publicity Needs

One of the most active clubs at Marshfield, the Palleteers, completed another busy year planning, designing, painting, and creating.

The Palleteers constructed a new Pirate head for the basketball season. The cry for interesting publicity was also answered in the form of many signs made for school functions.

Under the guidance of Mr. John Connors, Art Club members painted stage settings for Vespers and school plays.

The Palleteers completed three hundred signs for the State A-2 Basketball Tournament and designed the handsome bracketboard to be awarded to the State A-2 Champion. For the State A-1 Wrestling Tournament, they again turned out another three hundred signs. They celebrated their year with a picnic in the spring.

Camera Club

Photographers Have Busy Year

While accomodating the smallest membership of the clubs at Marshfield, Camera Club earned the distinction of being one of the busiest. With their cameras, strobes, dangling straps and cords, they were a familiar sight at every kind of school activity. Members were constantly at work taking, developing, and printing pictures for the Mahiscan, Ma-Hi Times, and The World. To earn money for chemicals and paper, they took pictures at the Junior Prom, Senior Ball, and Sadie.

Pep Club

Rooters Swell Membership and Spirit

With the membership reaching nearly 150 girls, Pep Club had another successful year of promoting spirit and encouragement for the team.

The club sold mums for Homecoming and popcorn balls and fudge during the Christmas season with the profit adding to the club treasury.

In hopes of increasing enthusiasm, the club chose an outstanding member and squad monthly. The recipients of these awards were chosen for their enthusiasm at games and participation in sign painting and other club functions.

Interested members formed the nucleus of the drill team. With new outfits, these girls provided half-time entertainment at basketball games. A pizza party brightened the year, when the girls gathered for an evening of fun and good food as a reward for their swelling spirit and enthusiasm.

Rally

Yell Kings Push White Shirt Section

An enthusiastic, animated rally is the first step to obtaining that lively feeling of spirit that every school needs. This year's rally worked hard to help Marshfield students capture that elusive "school spirit" which compelled the Pirates on to each new victory.

The rally's duties were many and often time-consuming. They cheered at home and at away games and practiced long hours each week. Pep assemblies were on their list of responsibilities, as was earning the money for their outfits.

When the Japanese wrestlers came to Coos Bay, they encountered the friendliness and spirit of the M.H.S. rally members, who challenged them to a game of "hockey" at the North Bend Swimming Pool.

For the first time in many years, two boys joined the cheering squad. One of the main duties of the Yell Kings was the supervision of the White Shirt Section. They also celebrated each M.H.S. touchdown during football season by throwing miniature purple and gold footballs into the stands.

Thespians

Actors Win Awards

Through an informal initiation in the fall and a formal one in the spring, Marshfield's troop #1445 gained many new members, all interested dramatists who worked on at least two plays. Participation in plays may mean an acting role, helping with costumes, make-up, prompting, ushering, selling tickets, or securing props. The club selected two challenging and interesting plays for its projects this year, Me, Candido and The Wonderful Adventures of Don Quixote. Through the enthusiasm and hard work of aspiring Thespians, these plays were a source of entertainment for the public as well as for the school.

Being in Thespians is in itself an honor. Special awards within the club are also given, including Honored Thespian, best actor of the year, best actress of the year, and Thespian of the year.

Numismatics Display Coins

Through Coin Club, Marshfield numismatics had an opportunity to pursue their hobby of coin collecting again this year. Meetings were designed to be quite helpful to the collectors as they discussed the many aspects of their hobby, including prices, condition, and circulation of certain coins. To develop their individual collections, they subscribed to a numismatic newspaper, Coin World, and traded coins with each other. They also had a chance to display their coins in various exhibits.

Pirates Place Third in District 5

The rebuilding of a team was the major task of coach Pete Susick this year. With only a handful of returning regulars from last year's team, this task entailed much work on the part of both players and coach.

The season started well with a victory over Cottage Grove in the opening game. The second game lowered the hopes of the team with a decisive defeat by Sheldon 0-20. The Pirates finished with a 6-2-1 record.

At the annual football banquet honors were received by the following: Barry Girt, outstanding lineman and also first string all-district; Mike Harris, outstanding back; and most improved player, Jerry Waggoner. Marshfield was honored by the naming of tackle Harold Michaelson to the All-District and State Shrine teams; Chris Johnson was named an alternate to the Shrine team.

Hopes for future teams at Marshfield are vested in sophomore and freshman teams.

Junior Varsity Football

Team Has Many Firsts

The Junior Varsity Football team, coached by Mr. John Johnson and Mr. Lynn Mathews, proved to be a team of firsts this year. It was the first year the team was composed of both juniors and sophomores, the first time the Pirates defeated Roseburg in nine seasons, and the first and only team to defeat the Cottage Grove Junior Varsity this season.

The Pirates had a fine 5-win and 1-loss season, highlighted by the defeat of Cottage Grove and the final game with North Eugene, Scott McNutt ended the season as top scorer; and Larry Miller, the leading defensive point getter. Quarterback Jim Carver was voted outstanding back; Dennis Kokes, outstanding lineman; and Larry Miller, the most improved player.

With the added experience the juniors received playing on the JV team, Marshfield can look forward to a fine varsity team next year.

Sophomore Football

New Team Offers Increased Opportunity

The sophomore football team, coached by Mr. Tony Koreiva, was very strong this year, as was evinced by its 6-win and 2-loss record.

The sophomores started the season in fine style by defeating Bandon 26-0 and North Bend 41-0. They then went on to win the next three straight, losing their only two games to Myrtle Point and North Bend in close contests.

The addition of this team to the teams already in action increased the opportunity for participation.

Freshman Football

Coaches Eye Future Hopefuls

The freshman football teams gave Marshfield fans a reason to look forward to successful seasons to come in J.V. and Varsity football. The Blue Jackets, coached by Mr. Ray Thiess and Mr. Gus Langley, ended the season with a fine 6-win, 1-loss record, the fourth best win-loss record by a Marshfield freshman team in nine seasons. The highlight of the year for the Blue Jackets was the sweep of the two games played with North Bend.

The Frosh Seadogs also came through the season with an excellent record of 7-wins and 0-losses. The Seadogs proved to be almost too much for every team they played.

The fact that there were two Freshmen instead of one added to the glory of the season.

With the many returning lettermen—Jim Villenueva, Kip Johnson, Tom Huggins, and Clyde Blakely—the roadrunners completed a very successful season.

The team logged many miles, even in the hundreds, individually. Captain Jim Villenueva had the most miles and also won many meets.

The team also built for the future with two freshmen lettering. They were Steve Prefontaine and Roger Bingham. These two, along with a strong J.V. team, are Coach McClure's hopes for a district championship next year.

Jim Villenueva leads the team to a victory over Coquille at a dual meet.

Girls Win District Meet

The swimming team's efforts this year were culminated by the girls' victory at the district swim meet. Behind this meet were many hours of hard work and victories for the team at three smaller meets.

This year saw the advent of Marshfield's first diving team composed of Ray Arndt, Jack Scott, John Vladimiroff, Steve Garner, True Saling, and David Zamora—the latter three members traveling with 12 members of the swimming team to the state meet held in Eugene in November.

This past summer found the members of the engrossed in individual projects to raise funds for the sweat suits acquired early in the season.

At the annual swimming banquet, awards were given to Bill Counce and Penny Baughman—outstanding swimmers—and George Baughman and Suzanne Fischer—most improved swimmers.

With only two seniors graduating this year—Ed Weaver and Jack Suhre—Coach Ron Martin predicts that the coming year will be a successful one.

Craig Spinning demonstrates excellent backstoke form in the 100 yard backstoke contest.

Ed Weaver anxiously awaits the signal to start the next race.

Player Losses Injure Team

Although a state tournament trip was not in store for Marshfield this year, the Pirates finished a very successful season with an overall win-loss record of 15-7. These results were especially commendable for two reasons: (1) the tough competition in District 5, and (2) the loss of several players throughout the season.

Center Bill Hood was the only season-beginning starter to play in all 22 games. He was also the leading scorer and, along with forwards Larry Arnold and Tom Leaton, collected most of the Pirate rebounds.

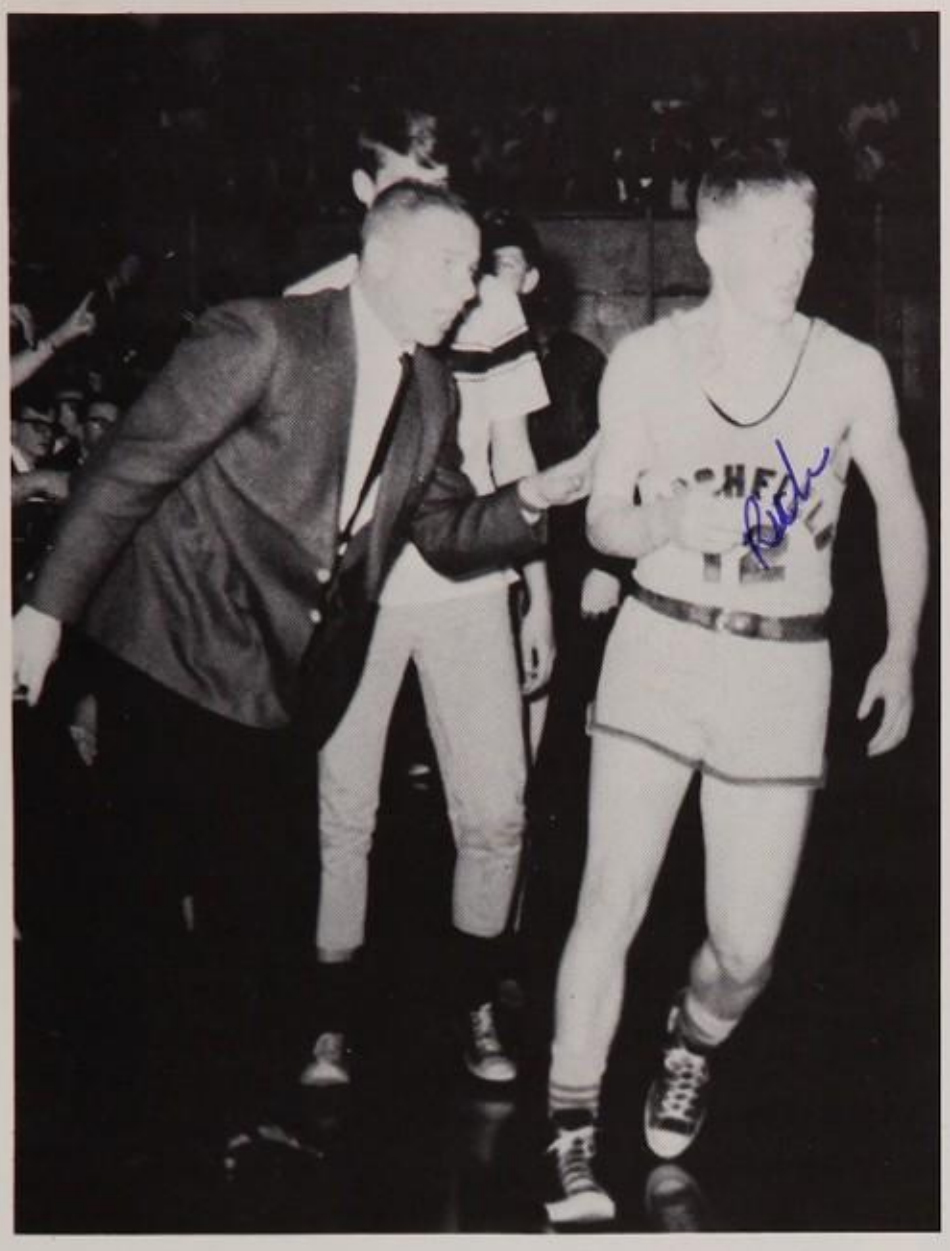
Highlights of the season included two victories over Sheldon and a thrilling overtime defeat of Roseburg 36-33.

The absence of several starters caused Marshfield to resort to ball control tactics that helped in the defeat of the tournament-bound North Eugene Highlanders and cross-town rivals North Bend.

School spirit in the latter part of the season played a great part in the Pirate victories.

Next year a strong group of juniors will make up the varsity team.

"I want you to work that ball into the post man," says Mr. Hoffine to Tom Leaton, Bill Hood, and Larry Arnold.



With seconds to go, Coach Hoffine sends in Rich Guenther with the right instructions for beating North Bend.

Team Learns Many Lessons

Although barely making a winning season with a 12-win and 11-loss record, the Junior Varsity team was a very hustling team. The speed of the guards and the shooting ability of the team were well challenged throughout the season by some outstanding teams. The lessons the team members learned this year should aid them greatly next year on the varsity team.

Coaches Walt McClure and Paul Preston were quite happy about the desire to play the team displayed. Marty Popp, Chuck Smith, and Wayne Tait always put forth their best effort, and their ball handling ability should be a great help on next year's Varsity. The shooting ability of Jim Carver, Dennis Kokes, Scott McNutt, and Everett Rider gave the JV's a well balanced team. Marshfield fans will look forward to seeing the fine players next year.

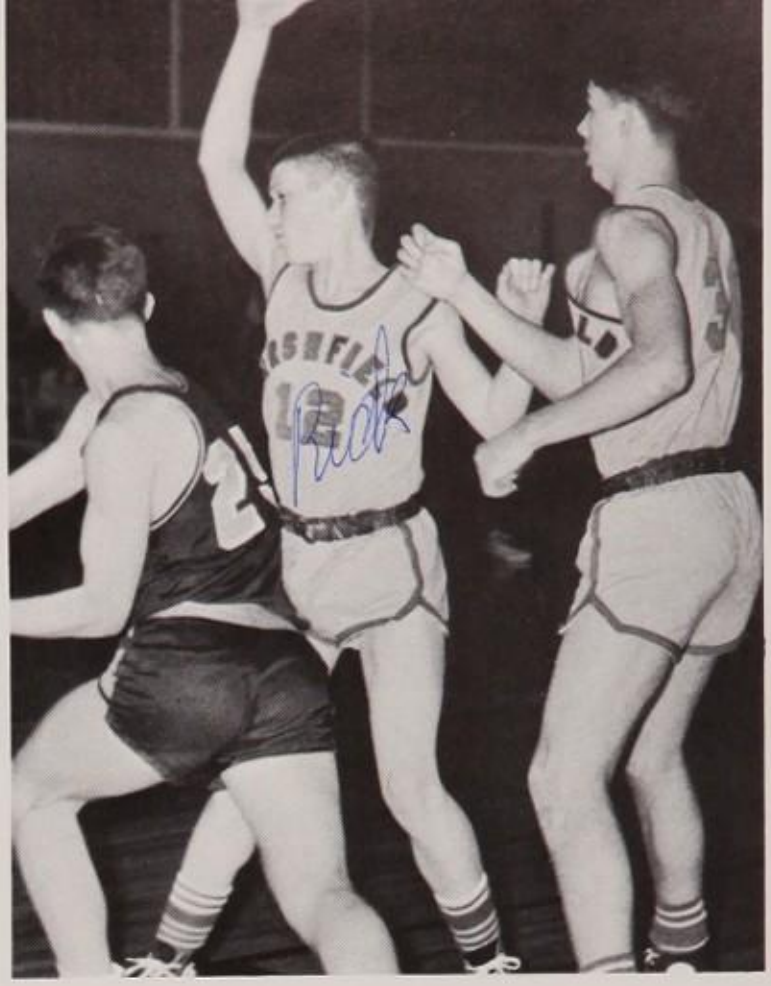
Sophomore Basketball

Popp's Players Have Best Record Yet

The well-balanced sophomore team completed the season with a 14-win, 3-loss record, the best sophomore record ever recorded. Coach Jim Popp's players hustled their way to a great season. The competition ranged from the Marshfield Frosh "A" team to the Elkton varsity. These wins included a four game sweep of North Bend.

Each boy put in much actual playing time. High scoring honors went to 6' 3½" center Bill Heinz, who was closely followed by Mike Whitty. Top rebounders were Bill Heinz and Gary Haliski. Mark Donaldson was cited as the most improved player by Coach Popp. The outstanding balance of the team and playing experience should be great aid to future Pirate teams.

To top the season off, the sophomores became the second sophomore team to ever beat the J.V.'s.



David Revis and Rick Susick struggle for the ball against an Elkton opponent.

Freshmen Basketball

"B" Squad Breaks Records

Coach Ray Davis saw his team to an 11-win, 11-loss record this year, despite the loss of one of his players to the JV team. Coach Davis felt his team could develop into a really good one if they continue to grow. The team showed a good shooting ability and had an outstanding group of guards.

A record breaking season was turned in this year by Coach Ray Thiess and the Freshman "B" team. Their 15-win, 2-loss record made them the most winning team at Marshfield this year. Hard work will produce fine Pirates out of this group.

Wrestling

Pirates Take District Title Match

The Pirate wrestling team had another tremendous year under the coaching of Mr. John Dustin. The wrestlers gained their third straight District 5A-1 title, with two wrestlers emerging as district champions and three runner-ups.

Junior Dennis Emerson won his third district championship and Sophomore Len Smith, his second. Frank Belger, Steve Garner, and Ken Oliver were runner-ups and Whitey Humphrey and John Eddy placed third in the district meet. All together, thirteen Pirates placed in the district meet.

The wrestlers had a 4-win and 3-loss season. The biggest disappointment to the team came with its loss to North Bend in the last dual meet of the season; the highlight of the season came with its victory at District.

That Marshfield can look forward to several years of outstanding wrestlers is shown by the fact that the sophomores and freshmen scored a combined total of 87½ points of the Pirates 144 at District.

Len Smith placed 2nd in State.

Pirates Build For Future

This year's Varsity Baseball team was mostly a team committed for building an experienced team for future Pirate years. Returning lettermen Ray Lemke, Chris Johnson, Chuck Smith, and Mike Robertson were expected to lead the team to a successful season. The nucleus of the team will be juniors with a sprinkling of sophomores who are looking for experience.

After four years of existence, the baseball team has one major addition, a new pitching machine. It was bought for a summer program but is being used by our team in hopes of making some great hitters.

Head coach Chet Haliski looks for "an interesting year" and also comments that "this year's team cannot be overlooked." Mr. Walt Paczesniak handled the J.V.'s this year. The Frosh team was coached by Mr. Ray Thiess.

Trackmen Enjoy Good Season

Marshfield looked forward to a strong track team this year with the return of many good distance runners and field men from last year's squad.

Gale Banry in the shot put, Everett Rider in the high jump and broad jump, Jorgen Kruse in the high jump, and Harold Michaelson in the javelin provide a strong nucleus for the field event men. Kip Johnson, Tom Leaton, Jim Villenueva, and Bob Elliott comprise the nucleus for the always tough distance crew.

The potential for district and perhaps even state champions is found in several members of the Marshfield team waiting only to be molded into the shape through hard work.

Tennis Girls

Girls' Tennis Holds Strong Promise

Returning members of last year's squad were Mary Paczesniak, Kathy Krummel, Anne Lorence, and Anne and Angy Guenther. With these girls, Coach Jan Rust expected a winning season.

During last year's season, Mary Paczesniak placed second in district and went on to the state matches. The team placed third in district play.

Angy Guenther practices her back hand in a volley with Anne Lorence.

Lettermen Face Challenges

With this year's tennis team dominated by returning lettermen, Coach Lewis Davies expected a winning season.

The returning lettermen were all seniors—Mark Kellogg, Mark McMann, Jon Baumgartner, Ralph Thrift, and John Garland. Coach Davies expected the doubles team of McMann and Kellogg to reach the state meet. David Revis, a sophomore, is expected to aid the team greatly.

A difficult schedule furnished the team with many challenges.

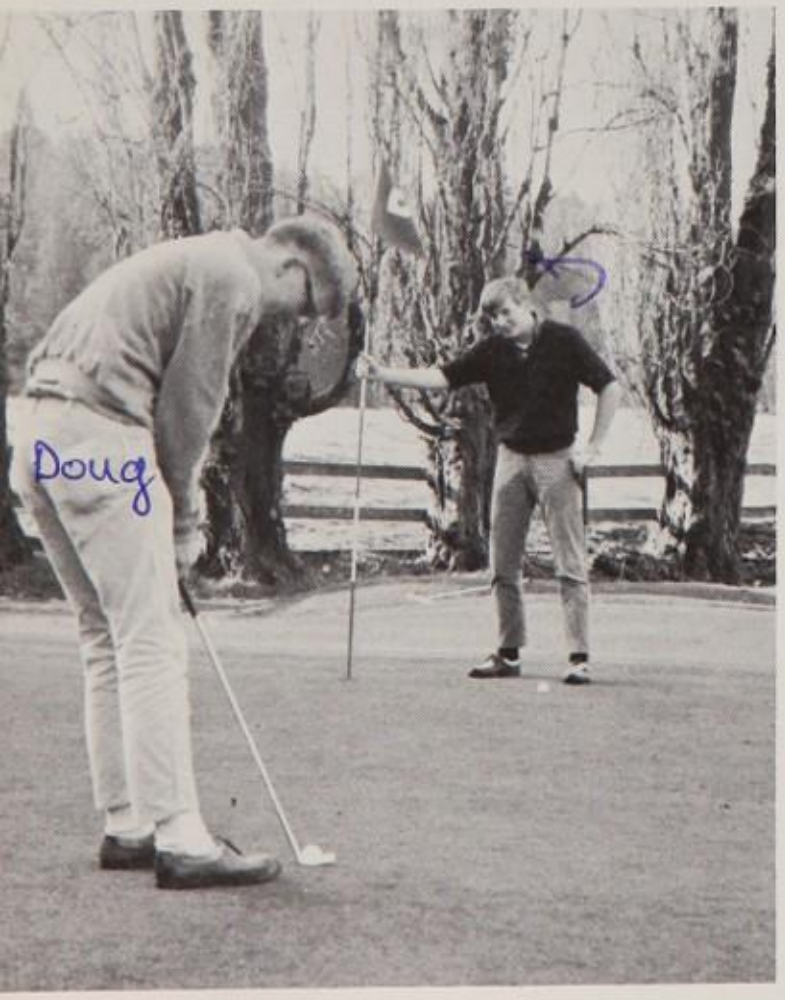
Golf

Coach Popp Says Team Holds Prominence

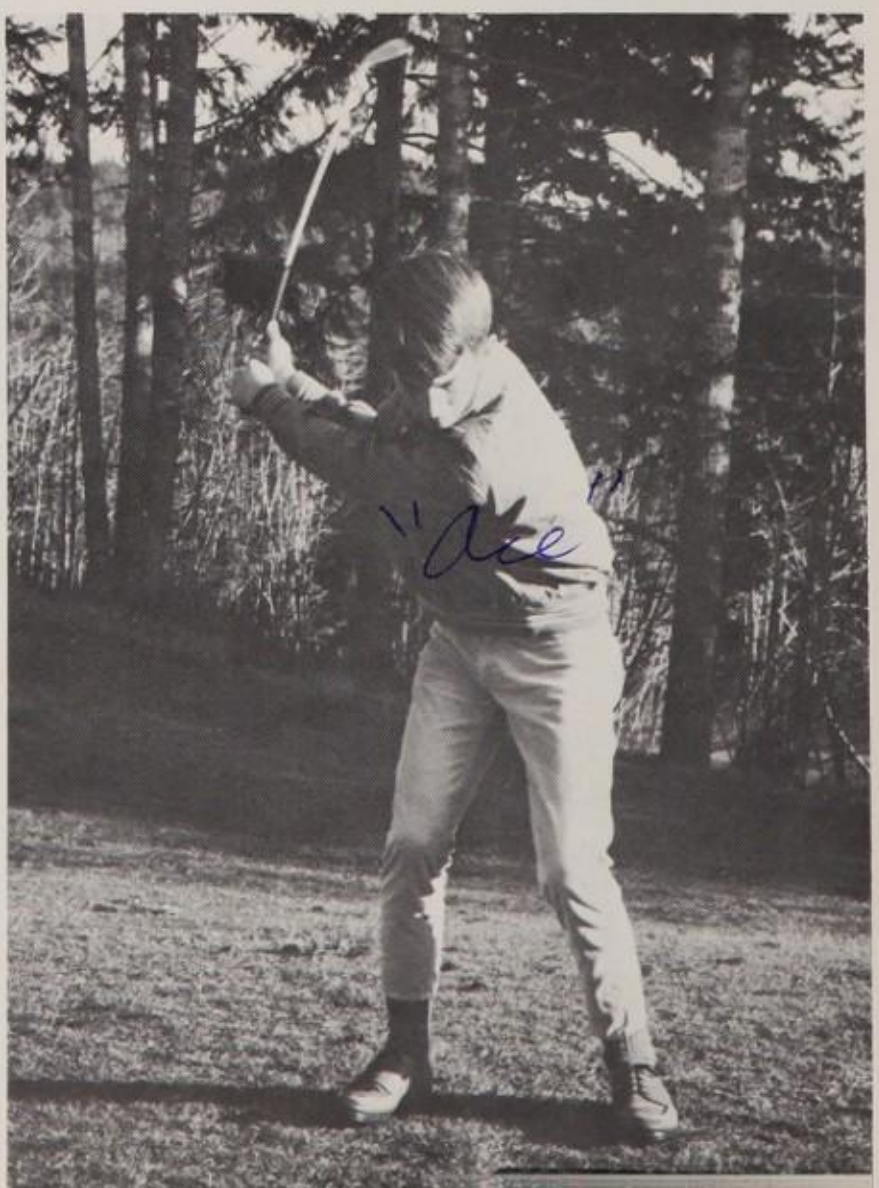
This year, as in the past, qualifying rounds for the golf team started the first Monday after spring vacation. Coach Jim Popp said that this year's team could be quite successful if the members get together on the matches and all play well.

The first spot was dominated by Allen McDougall, but the next four were contested for by Doug Holliday, Randy Kindred, Bob Seelig, and Ron Thompson, with possible attention to Sophomore Mike Whitty and Freshman Wayne Laurila.

Doug Holliday putts for a birdie as Ron Thompson holds the flag.



Rick Aasen chips out of the rough onto the eighth green.



Gymnastics

Team Takes District

Gymnastics gained recognition as a team this year, and many girls turned out to compete. Only three years of girls' gymnastics teams has proved very worthwhile. Marshfield entered meets this year at Medford, Cottage Grove, and Sheldon. The year was climaxed with a district victory at Medford. The team placed third at the state meet at Eugene.

Barbara Hanen was all-around best at both the district and state meet.

Next year's team has set as its goal a state championship.

L. to R., ROW 1: K. Clausen, A. French, L. Garner, B. Hanen. ROW 2: C. Hanson, J. Holly, L. McDaniel, L. Manders. ROW 3: J. Yarbrough, S. Hunt, S. Clarkson, P. Baska, T. Francisco.

Linda Manders practices her routine on the trampoline.

"I hope I made it over," thinks Sharon Clarkson as she works on the trampoline.

Kathy Clausen does a spread eagle in her tumbling routine.

Marshfield students are indebted to the Coos Bay merchants who unfailingly give their hearty support to the school and school activities. Through this unflagging co-operation between community and its school, students are firmly assisted on their way to new and greater achievements in the years to come.

Phil,
It's been a great year but I'm sure we'll all glad it's over. Take it easy this summer.

Senior Activities

The daily life of a senior is exciting.
Suddenly life seems too short to squeeze
in all the important activities and conversations before the year brings an end to twelve years of friendships and school relationships.

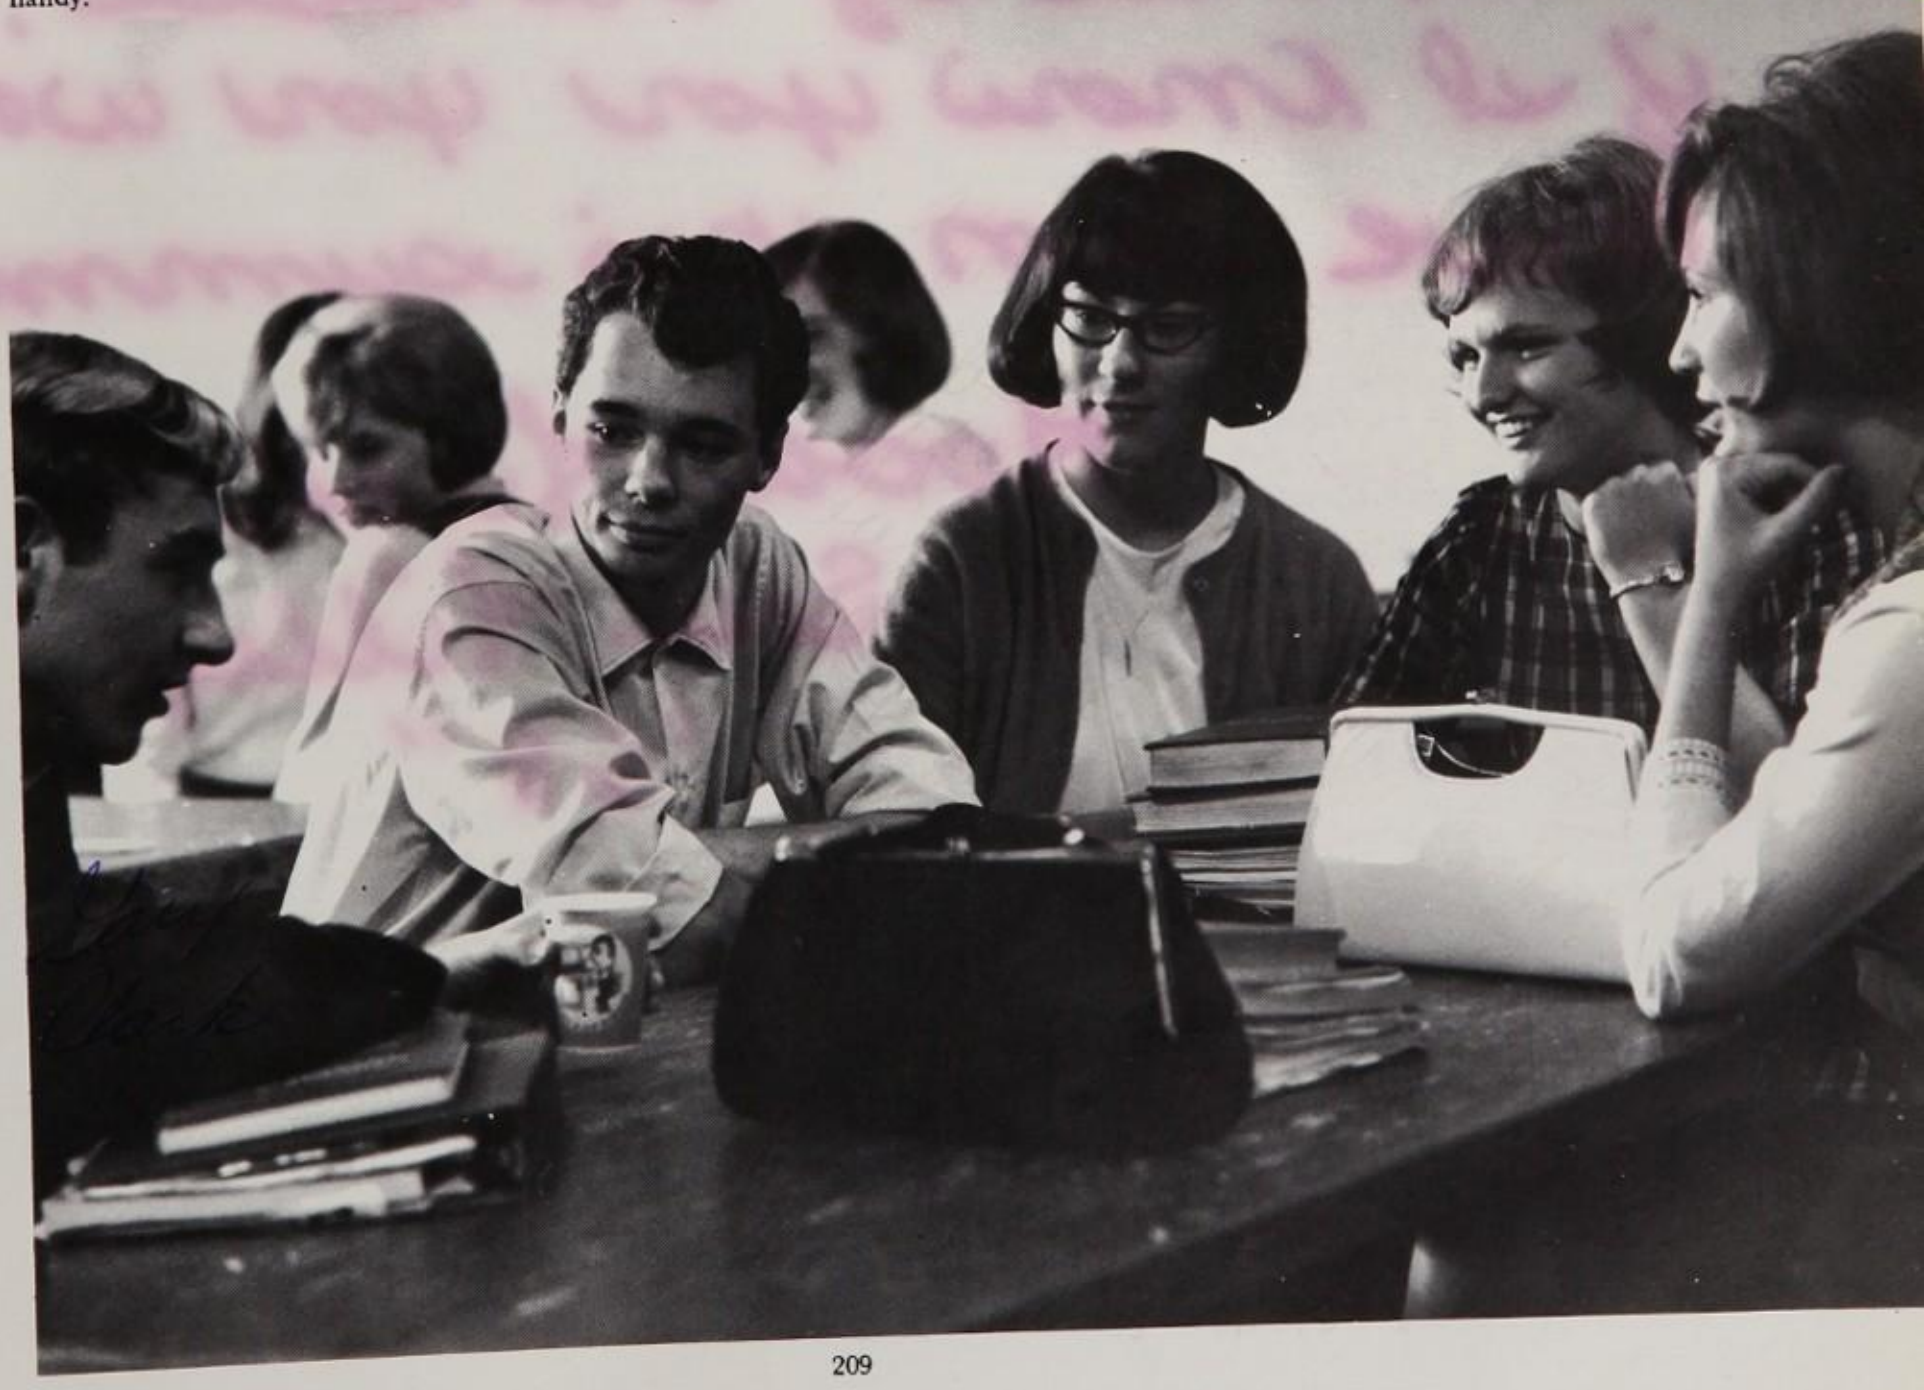
Senior boys entertain the student body at the pep assembly before the Willamette game.

Kathy Bowker artistically molds a pot out of a slab of clay.

Jorgen Kruse helps add to the senior class fund by selling popcorn at a football game.

The opportunity to talk over the many problems confronting seniors in the newly instigated study hall program comes in handy.

Cindy Glassow and Mary Anne Allison look over other journalistic works to develop new ideas.



Phil-

are you going to make it to college next year? I (mostly kidding) hope you know I'm really taking a lot of my precious time! Anyway be good and stay out of trouble. You know you won't have fun this summer

Good luck

Phil
Well we finally made it (barely)
Will be on our own pretty soon. (maybe) We lost fun in football and you did very well on the basketball squad (and the whiteshirt section) I'll see you around this summer.
Your Pal,
Mike Davis
(Cross River) (MJHS)
(MHS) (?)
I should have come to your games, I could've taken back I won't mention the ball. O.K. I thought it was lucky or the summer, or second thought might get over it. Well, for sake Let's Relax the summer. Good luck
Phil,

We're on Our Way . . .

The glory of high school behind us. This has really been an eventful year in sports + learning - Mother left something to be desired with old Lang. The next few years should really prove to be rewarding - I hope we can get together one of these days for a little game of Hearts or something -
See you around

Phil,
I should write in Latin, but I'm afraid I would get every thing
messed up.
Besides, my Latin went to pot when Waco
took over.
Best wishes to a great guy,
Sandy

Readers:

On behalf of the 1966 staff I hope that this year's Mahiscan will prove an accurate and interesting account of a memorable year.

Through the theme "We're on Our Way," we tried to symbolize the thrill that comes with the forming of new friendships, discovering new ideas, and gaining new skills that are part of all high school life yet peculiar to Marshfield High School, 1965-66.

In trying to recapitulate the year for you, we owe a debt of gratitude to the many who contributed their time, advice, and talent: Anne Lorence, who designed the cover; Mr. Jack Lefler, who aided the school artists and photographers; "Robert" of the Camera Shop; Mr. Robert Paffrath of the American Yearbook Company; Mr. Irving Lloyd, who helped to improve our photography; Mr. Robert Alexander, who helped set up the index for data processing; the office staff, who answered our many questions; the Bay Area businessmen whose advertising helped to support the book; and last, but not least, the many unsung heroes who sold advertising, contributed copy, typed dummies, and sold and distributed the yearbooks.

Phil
Our senior year sure has been a bad.
good luck to your next year and be a good kid, while your
in public anyway.
She hell's hanging
so can't write anymore!
Good luck always,
Nancy.

Phil -
Someday you and your friends will make the grade to play football with me &
mine! Hal. Congratulations on being a graduate from M.H.S.. good luck,
Karla Jorgensen '68

Phil,
It's really been a blast being your English class. How did you like old Mrs. Glasson. We probably will miss the old woman don't you think. Best of luck in the future in all that you do and especially with all the girls Always,
Ginger Winters

Phil
We sure had some good times on the football team these last four years. You sure have been getting out of hand this last year, so I hope you try to settle down a little bit this summer and the years to come. But you must have fun anyway. Lots of luck in the future.
A friend always
